

People should not be bothered with unwanted solicitations. Many public areas of our country have laws against solicitation. There is no reason why companies should be able to solicit people in the privacy of their own home. If people want to buy something they will seek it themselves.